

PAC Group LLC

Construction Managers    General Contractors

14 April 2014

To whom it may concern;

It is rare, today, to experience a true professional partnership. We consider ourselves truly fortunate for the one that exists between Richard Turlington Architect and PAC Group LLC.

For me that experience started in 2005. I was brought in on the tail end of a project where I was faced with a steep learning curve. Richard instantly realized that my acclimation to the Team was paramount to the successful completion of the project. He took the time to guide me in the team dynamics and the big picture aspects that are often hard to see when you are playing catch-up. His ability to see, and communicate, the larger picture rescued the project. This is a skill he consistently brings to the table when issues, of all nature, arise.

We are now 26 projects, and 25 million dollars, into this relationship and still finding great success in completing projects to the high expectations of our clients. We continually witness Richard's ability to ascertain the needs to the Client and to transfer those needs into the project design. He has a true gift for maximizing space, and functionality, while providing an exceptional visual experience. In this effort, he is also able to effectively work with the contractor to overcome unforeseen issues to the benefit of the project goals. We get a lot of credit for simply following his lead.

Because of these experiences I can, without hesitation, recommend the services of Richard Turlington Architects for your project. I am confident you will enjoy the experience as we have. Sincerely,

Todd Vetrano, Project Manager
PAC Group LLC